11-3-2026 Election Results

Federal Elections

U.S. Senate

U.S. Senators serve for six-year terms. With Republican Senator Thom Tillis not seeking re-election, Democrat and former NC Governor Roy Cooper received 58.72% of the votes cast and defeated Republican Michael Whatley. Given the outcome of the elections nationwide, Democrats will control the U.S. Senate beginning in 2027. The other Senate seat held by Republican Senator Ted Budd is up for election in 2028.

NC Delegation in the U.S. House

There are 14 U.S. Representatives from North Carolina. Republicans held 10 of the 14 U.S. House seats entering the November 3rd election. After the election, the balance flipped with 10 seats expected to be held by Democrats and 4 seats by Republicans if the unofficial general election results from the NC State Board of Elections remain unchanged. Given the outcome of the elections nationwide, Democrats will control the U.S. House beginning in 2027.

Entering the election, the main contests to watch were in District 1, where incumbent Democratic Representative Don Davis's district was significantly redrawn, and District 11, where incumbent Republican Chuck Edwards decided to end his reelection bid. However, many Republican incumbents in districts that leaned Republican or were rated as strongly Republican lost their reelection bids.

The rules for finalizing vote counts ("canvassing" on the tenth day after the election to authenticate the count) are set by state law. For non-statewide elections with a margin of less than 1% separating the candidates, the losing candidate can request a recount. Districts 3, 5, and 7 are within 1% of separation in the vote counts.

District 1: Incumbent Don Davis (Democrat) vs. Laurie Buckhout (Republican). Winner: Davis

District 2: Incumbent Deborah Ross (Democrat) vs. Eugene F. Douglass (Republican). Winner: Ross

District 3: Incumbent Greg Murphy (Republican) vs. Raymond Smith (Democrat). Winner (Based on Current Vote Totals): Murphy (Note: The current vote count is: 117,583 for Murphy and 117,350 for Smith.)

District 4: Incumbent Valerie Foushee (Democrat) vs. Mahesh (Max) Ganorkar (Republican). Winner: Foushee

District 5: Incumbent Virginia Foxx (Republican) vs. Chuck Hubbard (Democrat). Winner (Based on Current Vote Totals): Hubbard (Note: The current vote count is: 139,034 for Hubbard and 138,935 for Foxx.)

District 6: Incumbent Addison McDowell (Republican) vs. Cyril Jefferson (Democrat). Winner: Jefferson

District 7: Incumbent David Rouzer (Republican) vs. Kimberly Hardy (Democrat). Winner (Based on Current Vote Totals): Rouzer (Note: The current vote count is: 159,985 for Rouzer and 157,560 for Hardy)

District 8: Incumbent Mark Harris (Republican) vs. Colby Watson (Democrat). Winner: Harris

District 9: Incumbent Richard Hudson (Republican) vs. Richard N. Ojeda II (Democrat). Winner: Ojeda

District 10: Incumbent Pat Harrigan (Republican) vs. Ashley Bell (Democrat). Winner: Harrigan

District 11: Incumbent Chuck Edwards (Republican) ended his reelection bid. Jennifer Balkcom (Republican) vs. Jamie Ager (Democrat). Winner: Ager

District 12: Incumbent Alma Adams (Democrat) vs. Jack Codiga (Republican). Winner: Adams

District 13: Incumbent Brad Knott (Republican) vs. Paul Barringer (Democrat). Winner: Barringer

District 14: Incumbent Tim Moore (Republican) vs. Lakesha Womack (Democrat). Winner: Womack

North Carolina State Elections

All 120 NC House and 50 NC Senate seats were up for election for new two-year terms beginning in January. There were no gubernatorial or Council of State races on the ballot as those terms are not up for election until 2028. In addition to certain judicial elections, voters considered three constitutional amendments: (1) requiring photo id for voting, (2) setting the maximum income tax rate at 3.5 percent, and (3) directing the General Assembly to enact laws limiting the amount by which local property taxes may increase. All three constitutional amendments passed.

Entering the election, Republicans held a 30-20 supermajority in the NC Senate and were one seat short of supermajority in the NC House (71-47 plus 2 members who are unaffiliated/independent). Remember that three-fifths of the members of each chamber present and voting is the margin required to overturn a gubernatorial veto. In numerous instances, districts that entering the election leaned Republican or were regarded as strongly Republican flipped to Democrats.

After the election, Republicans appear to have narrowly retained control of the NC Senate with a margin of 26-24. In NC Senate district 24 (Hoke Robeson, and Scotland Counties), the race between Republican Danny Earl Britt, Jr., and Democratic challenger Catina Hamm is within the margin for a recount.

Democrats will control the NC House with a margin that currently stands at 71-48 plus 1 unaffiliated. The elections in Districts 9 (Pitt County), 51 (Lee and Moore Counties), 62 (Guilford County), 63 (Alamance County), and 93 (Alleghany, Ashe, and Watauga Counties) are within the margin for a recount.

Remember that whichever party is in control of a chamber sets the top elected officials – Speaker of the House and the President Pro Tempore of the Senate – and selects the top chairs of each committee who control committee meeting schedules and which bills are put forward to be heard. House Democratic Leader Robert T. Reives, II, is anticipated to be the next House Speaker. In the Senate, as noted below a leading Republican candidate for the role for President Pro Tempore lost his reelection bid creating potential uncertainty about who the top Republican leader would be. Also, there is the potential recount in District 24 to consider. Should that seat flip, creating a tie or deadlock in the chamber in a vote for the role of Senate President Pro Tempore, Democratic Lieutenant Governor Rachel Hunt would cast the deciding vote.

Marquee Legislative Contests

NC Senate:

- Senate District 7 (New Hanover): Republican incumbent Michael Lee vs. Democratic challenger Jessica Bichler.
    - With NC Senate President Pro Tempore Phil Berger not returning for the 2027-2028 legislative session, Senator Lee entered the election as a leading contender to serve as the next NC Senate President Pro Tem, but he lost his reelection bid.
- Senate District 34 (Cabarrus): The Republican candidate Kevin Crutchfield, a former House member, sought to keep the seat Republican after defeating Senator Chris Measmer, the incumbent, in a primary. Crutchfield lost to Democrat April Cook.
- Senate District 11 (Franklin, Nash, Vance): Republican Sen. Lisa Stone Barnes vs. Democratic former Rep. James Gailliard. Barnes lost her reelection bid.

NC House:

- House District 105 (Mecklenburg): Republican incumbent Tricia Cotham vs. Democratic challenger Ken McCool. Representative Cotham, a former Democrat switched parties back in 2023 and narrowly won reelection in 2024. Democratic leaders prioritized regaining the seat. Cotham lost her reelection bid.
- House District 35 (Wake): Republican Rep. Mike Schietzelt vs. Democratic candidate Evonne Hopkins was a rematch from 2024 that Schietzelt won by 3 percentage points at that time. Hopkins defeated Schietzelt in the rematch.

Upcoming Sessions

Based on the last adjournment resolution by the General Assembly, legislators have two potential dates for upcoming sessions: November 16-19 and November 30-December 18. Sessions that follow an election are often called "lame duck" sessions as these are the final legislative sessions for some legislators who either lost their primaries or general elections, or who have decided to retire or decided not to run again.

Although the prior adjournment resolution constrains the types of topics that may be considered, legislators are free to adopt conference reports for bills (that passed both chambers but had differences in the House and Senate versions) for which conferees had been appointed by both chambers on or before August 6, 2026. Under rules in the NC House and NC Senate, a conference report can include entirely new content and does not have to relate back to the subject of the original bill. Also, votes on whether to adopt conference reports are a straight up or down vote without amendments. Thus, we will continue to monitor any noteworthy issues or decisions coming out of these upcoming session dates.

2027 – 2028 Legislative Sessions

The 2027-2028 session of the North Carolina General Assembly convenes for a one-day organizational meeting on January 13, 2027, with the first floor session expected on January 27, 2027.
